The St. Louis Republican's news editor is certainly after Hobbs, and if he keeps on like this he may find gore (supposed to be a joke originating from the river brain of the APPEAL): "The G.-D's Great Eastern skiff, in attempt ing to ascend Raccoon hollow, stuck fast of a stump, and at last accounts was making ashore on a saw-log for provisions ha returned without fresh meat. The young did not know which end of a ram was the Accident to the Montana.

LOUISVILLE, March 18 .- The large stern wheel steamer Montana was blown over or the dam at the head of the canal, at about 1 o'clock, and now lays in a precarious cond tion with every probability of breaking in two. The accident was caused by a blockade of coal barges at the entrance of the canal. The Montana is an 1100-ton boat, and was on her way from Pittsburg to St. Louis with a large miscellaneous cargo. Captain Briesen has entered a protest here. A barge is at the steamer and a large gang of men are remov-ing the freight. The boat has some of her hull broken and is hogged badly just under the boilers. It is hoped that she can be re-leased before dark. It will be necessary to dock her before she can proceed on he RIVERS AND WEATHER. OFFICE SIGNAL SERVICE, U. S. A., MESPHIS, TENN., March 18, 1882.
